To dedicate an Annual...to dedicate a life. They're one and the same. And now Mr. Townsend you're leaving with us. They used to tell me, just wait until you grow up. Now I have. And finally I'm beginning to understand you a little better. Adults! How strange you seem sometimes. But we're really not so different, you and I.

How much you have given that we failed to notice. How much did you receive in return without our knowing? And for you, it's been a full life, from summer to spring again. The cycle of winter sleeps and fall confusion will take place beyond our seeing from now on. Still you are a part of these walls. You and I have touched the same stone, and walked the same steps. To dedicate an Annual...to dedicate a life. They're one and the same. And yet, how do you explain it in words? We, the students, hereby dedicate this Annual to you!

Mr. Andresen, director of student activities, and Mr. Fleming, assistant principal, talk shop.

The place where it all happens.

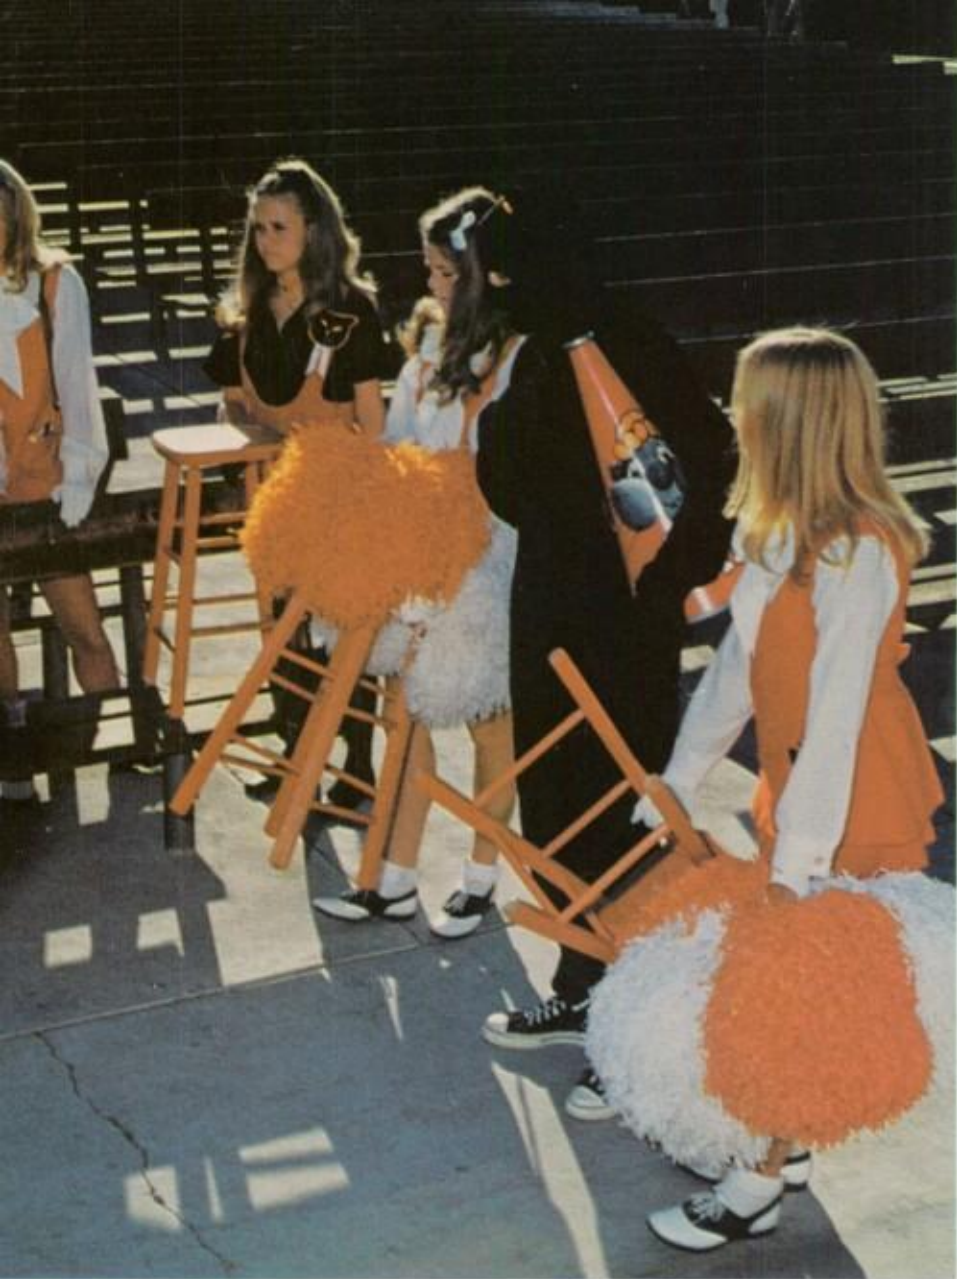

Dora Pierce—Mr. Townsend's personal secretary.

Mr. Townsend has been principal of Orange High School since 1954. He has served in the Orange schools since 1935. He received his B.A. at Arizona State and his M.A. at U.S.C. His duties at Orange High School have been many. His main responsibility has been the direction of the educational system at Orange. And now, as he is leaving the school to retire, someone new will assume the responsibilities that he has fulfilled with such dedication.

The students, teachers, administrators, and everyone else connected with Orange High School thank you for all you have contributed to the school as an institution, and to us as human beings. And as you leave, we wish for you what we wish for ourselves—a new and exciting different learning experience.

Assistant Principal, Mrs. Paulsen, discusses school matters with Principal Townsend.

I can remember the excitement last year when the time came for tryouts. So many people so eager to be one of the select few. But, not everyone was able to be a part of it. With the excitement, came disappointment. And for those who won, with the excitement, came more excitement and plans for the coming year.

Living is...being yourself. Expressing yourself in the way you know best. And if you've ever stopped to watch the expression on his face or her face as she yells her voice away, you know that she is living. The whole leadership spectrum at Orange High operates in the same exact way. A group of people that you and I chose to lead us, living the life that they themselves and we have made for them. So many people are so quick to condemn. Yes, they are different. But only because we made them that way. So what if they're different?

"God asks no man whether he will accept life. That is not the choice. You must take it. The only choice is how."

—Beecher

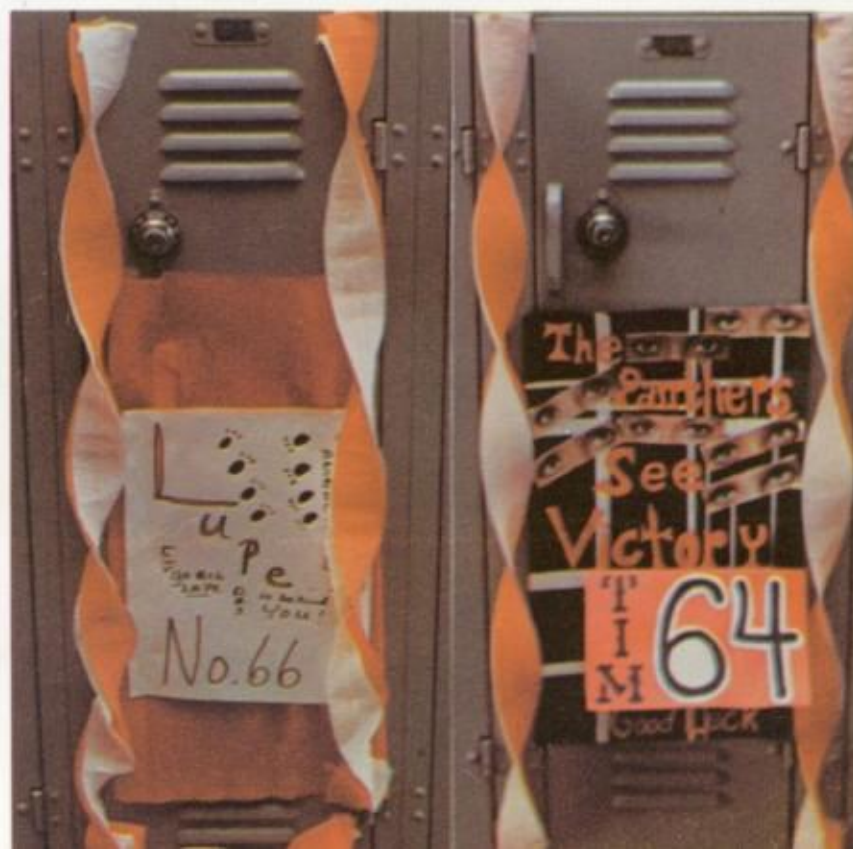

Don't condemn someone merely because the life he is living is different from yours. Who's to say which mode of living is best? Simply remember that as long as you are you, no one can be any happier. And so, as Big Pat and Patty and the songleaders and the yelleaders and the remainder of our student leaders do their thing, you do yours, "and if by chance we find each other, it's beautiful."

I see you walking there and I wonder just what exactly it is that you are thinking. You look so free and alive. And I see the emotion inside you and it makes me love you. I've seen you in so many different moods. I've watched you as you discover that learning is fascinating and appealing to your mind. I've seen you thrill at a hello from your favorite person. I've seen you so full of love that even the clouds step aside to let your radiance shine through. I marvel at the never-ending supply of emotion stored up inside of you. And yet, there is so much more about you that I want to see.

A very wise and prophetic young man by the name of Stephen Stills once said, "I'd like to know what you're thinking. Answer me slowly now. Questions of a thousand dreams. What you do and what you see. C'mon lover, talk to me." Talk to me. Tell me what you're thinking. You're what living is all about, and I need you to live.

I've often wondered what you think about in the middle of a play. Are you using your sport as a means of escape or are you expressing some emotional aspect of your personality which can't be heard with words? It's not enough for you to be emotionally rich. You need to be physically rich as well. I see reflections of you when you're playing football, or basketball. And I'm thankful for a new avenue of understanding.

Values Were

As ASB President, it is very hard to measure the positive and the negative elements of a school year. Athletically and scholastically Orange High was one of the best, but I'm not real sure how to evaluate the remaining activities.

Student government, as you probably know, has been moving towards taking a more questionable stand as to its value and importance in high school life. Individuals on the Cabinet have chosen certain areas to enter such as: Student Representative to the Board, ecology, and consitutional revisions, but never could student government unite under one cause.

The primary cause for this disunity, I feel, is a very impractical constitution which calls for over 190 people to be involved and there is simply not enough for this many people to be involved in. Because of this, the constitution at the point of this writing, is under complete construction.

Once student government realizes a strong organizational backbone, many more important goals may be attained.

But, looking back, it was one of, if not the best years Orange High has had. Realizing our mistakes, and the various causes of our failures, the people here have grown considerably and are more than ready for a successful life.

Sincerely yours,

Steve Presson

The success of any form of government relies on the input of those involved in it. Student government is no exception. For those of you who feel dissatisfied with the work that this year's student leaders have done, ask yourself what you did for student government. Consider what our student leaders had to work with, and then ask yourself if you could have done any better. Remember that your student leaders are doing a job for you. They are taking the burden of leadership off of your shoulders and putting it on their own. "No one is useless in this world who lightens the burdens of it to others." In this respect, student leaders were of great value.

Most students expect an evaluation of this year's student government. To measure it's success wouldn't, perhaps, be fair. Let us say that the student leaders tried. They incorporated their time and ideas into what they hoped would be long-range solutions to the problems that students face every year. More freedom, more time, and less censorship were necessary changes. Basically, our student leaders had very little to work with. They had very little freedom, very little time, and more than enough censorship. Let us say that the student leaders tried. For your efforts, we thank you. And we wish you more cooperative bodies to work with in the future.

Experiments in Government

Vice-President: Mark Steen

"In retrospection I gaze at the days comprising our Senior Year of 1971, and can hardly believe the year is over! For some, it was completion of academic studies. For others, it was only a stepping stone to greater fulfillment in a particular field. Realizing this, our Senior Year has been important and rewarding. And some may well wish they had achieved more as they review the 'whole.' Remember, it is never too late to do better, set goals and dare to achieve them.

As an elected officer, I am proud to be part of Orange High Seniors 1971. Our cabinet set some high goals and reached many. We probably shall never fully understand "what was done here" until in the future we see that working relationships with one another and leadership capacities have made us better men and women to serve our future community, nation, and world."

"Serving as secretary this year has been an experience for me. I have met some interesting people as well as made some good friends. The amount of work I had this year was not what I had expected, and I wish I could have contributed more to the cause of student government. My main object as secretary was to help promote better communication among the students. I did this by distributing the minutes of all the cabinet meetings to every teacher so as to let the students know of decisions being made in cabinet concerning them. These should have been read and posted every week by the teachers within their class rooms. I am glad I was able to see what student government and leadership was like and I feel that the few things we did accomplish were worthwhile and will benefit students in the future."

Secretary: Terri Cannizzaro.

Not Measured by Success

Treasurer: Cinde Evans

As A.S.B. Treasurer this year I've come to realize that student government doesn't really exist. It has been hard to accomplish anything outstanding because of the lack of interest of both the cabinet and the entire student body. Even though this year was full of times trying to get things done, I can truthfully say that it has been fun. I've met so many great friends and I've come to appreciate any and all help that has been offered. I only wish that we could have accomplished something that would be appreciated by the whole student body. We did accomplish things that at the time seemed impossible. Although this year was full of defeat, success, and work I'll always think of it as a fantastic experience. Trying to keep track of the money has really been a problem at times.

This year as Director of Communications has proven to be one of many disappointments. Lack of concern and disorganization has once again become the dominant emotion of the assembled body of O.H.S., and I have seen this apathetic tendency destroy many valuable ideas and ideals.

There are no concrete reasons for the state of apathy felt this year, but it is apparent to me that the goals and values of the average high school student have drastically changed. It is possible that my disappointments are merely results of these changes.

Although the accomplishments this year are few and may even go unnoticed, it would be disgusting of me not to acknowledge those who gave me their strength and encouragement in the achievements made. Thanks to all who helped me through the disappointments, and strengthened me in the accomplishments—your love will not be forgotten. Peace to all!!

New Positions Were

Director of Activities: Bill Salling.

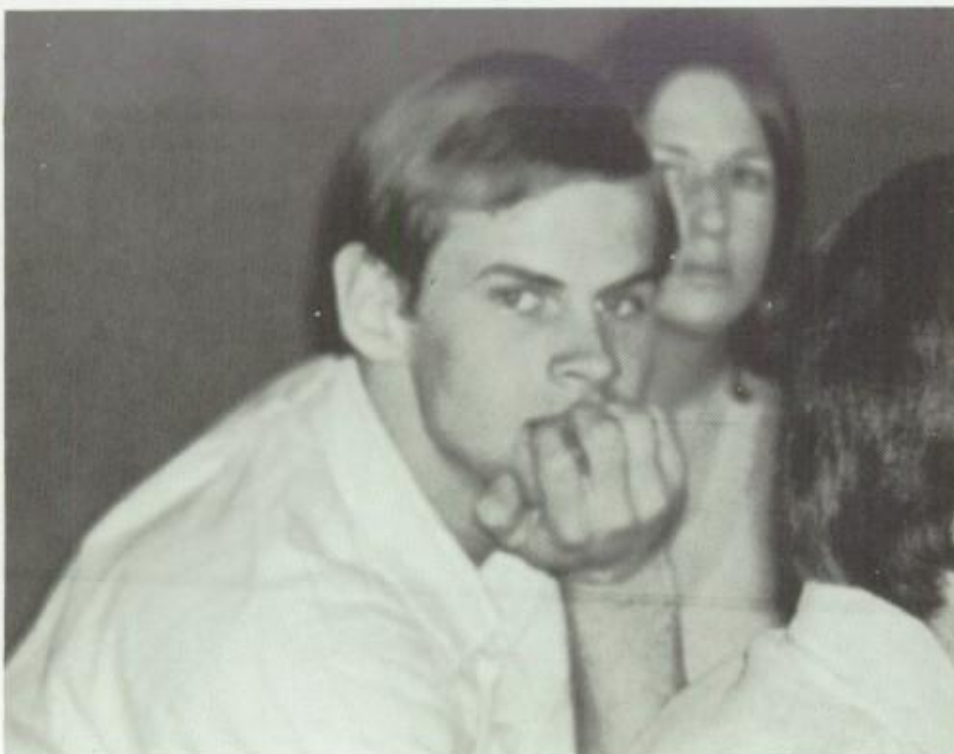

"As Director of Activities this year, I was in charge of "Pep" at Orange High School. Through my job, which was centered around all pep activities at Orange, I learned many things. Working in my job I had very little help and cooperation from anybody. Actually, most of the students at OHS were unconcerned as to whether we had pep rallies, assemblies, etc., at all. Students spoke about the lack of spirit, yet not that many people cared enough to come to the games. As to whether or not I did my job well, is probably no concern to anyone but me, but the experience I gained through holding the office of Director of Activities this year had opened my mind and eyes, and this realization, I believe, is the true purpose of Student Government."

Director of Elections: Tom Nation.

"Serving as the Director of Elections at Orange High School, I have found myself in an unsure situation. There is definitely an apathetic feeling towards high school elections. I am not sure whether it is my fault for the lack of interest because of the inadequacy on my part or if it is just a simple case of the student not caring. I believe it is the latter. When the ballots are brought into the students' class, they mark their X, however, when the elections are held at lunch, (as was the case for Homecoming) only 10% of the student body voted.

If there is a lack of interest towards elections, then student government will fail. Obviously, if this happens, the little voice that students have in school affairs will also disappear."

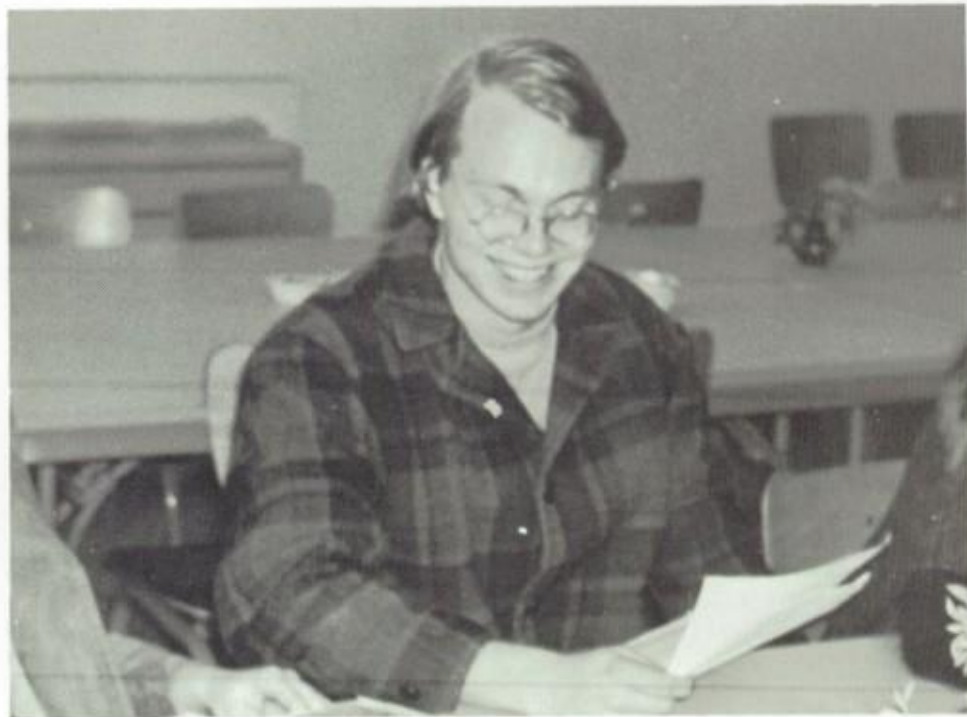

Director of Finance: Doug McFerran.

"Government is a 'system of rule'. Thusly, student government would presumably be the system by which students are ruled. Obviously this power is held by the school administration and the Board of Education, not the students who participate in the 'student government'.

What then is the function of student government? I feel it is to serve as a liaison between the students and administration, and to help coordinate and provide extra-curricular activities for students. To accomplish this latter purpose the student government needs money for assemblies, and many other things. Almost all of this money is received from the sale of ASB stickers. As Director of Finance, I was in charge of this. Although we made enough money this year to finance most of the things we had planned, we did not receive the support we had hoped for."

Established This Year

"There's no success like failure, and failure's no success at all.' These words by Bob Dylan, I feel, accurately describe the 1970-71 A.S.B. Cabinet. After deciding somewhere in the middle of the first semester that student government was powerless, we became apathetic. We realized, that since student government was a privilege granted by the School Board, the most we can ever do to change things is to make suggestions. Student government takes care of the petty stuff the administration doesn't want to handle or lets us make decisions on issues they consider harmless. I don't want to feed you any bull about Cabinet: The thing student government was missing most this year was effective student leaders. To be an effective leader you have to make sacrifices, like George Baugh did last year. None of us were willing to make the effort."

Director of Inter-School Co-Ordination: Mark Voge.

Director of Operations: Betsy King.

This year is almost ended and with all the agony and ecstasy it brought to your life, it will soon only be kept in the recesses of your memory-never to be reality again. At least we can remember this year and respect the time we were given to live.

As Director of Programming, I have learned and experienced many things. More than anything else I feel I learned to accept disappointment. Little did I know that student government would bring so many frustrating situations but; had I never encountered this, I may never have learned the art of taking discouragement lightly. I hope you also experienced something this year to help strengthen your characters, and that you will be completely fulfilled in your search of understanding and truth as you experience your unknown future. I want to thank you all so much for letting me touch your lives slightly.

Wishing you God's peace,

I began this year in enthusiasm and am ending it in disappointment. I'm disappointed in teachers who don't care to get involved in student interests, the red tape, and I'm disappointed in myself. I began working hard and I had goals I wanted student government to reach.

After a while, though, it became evident that very few (if any) goals of mine were to be reached. I'm not sure it was the attitude of the majority of students just like me, but it sure seemed like nobody cared. Now I'm sorry I just didn't keep on trying in spite of the obstacles.

It's a shame apathy is catching. But then who cares? I wonder when we have this country for our own. Will we care then? I pray and hope so.

God Bless.

Girls' League —

Girls' League President: Ann Leary.

This past year has been the most frustrating, disillusioning year of my life, but overall, it has been the most rewarding and fulfilling.

The purpose of Girls' League is to unify the girls of Orange High by fostering various activities. As representative of the girls of OHS, I have found that it is impossible to satisfy everyone; I have found that ten girls cannot sufficiently represent the ideas of every girl on campus, but I can honestly say that we have tried our best, and we had fun trying!

For every activity Girls' League sponsored, from the big-little-sister party on through the year, cabinet has strived to be original without threatening the traditional ways of our organization. We believe that an organization survives on creativity, but traditional activities should be carried out.

My office has truly been a learning experience. I have learned that the greatest fallacy of an organization is a lack of communication which comes from people not listening to each other. I have learned to be patient with people during distressing times. I have learned that the success of an activity depends on the happiness it brings to people; and I have learned that the overall happiness of a successful activity is the greatest feeling I experienced all year.

I would like to extend my thanks, on behalf of the girls of Orange High, to our advisors who were always patient and understanding. I would also like to thank each member of the Girls' League cabinet, whom I believe are each unique and beautiful in their own way, and to thank them for fulfilling their office to the best of their ability, and simply for being the people they are.

May you all find peace of mind and eternal happiness in whatever your future holds for you.

This Morning Happened

"I could tell you my adventures—beginning from this morning—"

"At least I knew who I was when I got up this morning, but I think I must have been changed several times since then."

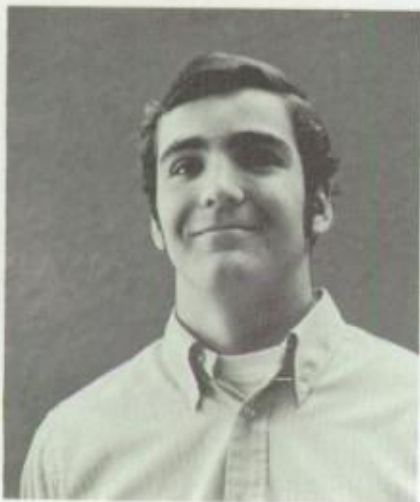

-Lewis Carroll

Our adventure began as sophomores. We thought we knew ourselves. But now the game is over and we see that we have changed several times.

Some of us regret falling down that "rabbit hole." Others of us would like to return. Whether or not we enjoyed the adventure, we must appreciate it for adventure's sake. We learned from our adventure. We fell down, and picked up again. We were hurt by others, and the others were hurt by us. It was rather curious.

And now that Spring is here, we must make plans for the day, perhaps, for the rest of our lives.

“Watermelon Sugar” Realities —

Debbie Young gets a pie in the face.

I thought about last week today and I remembered that a lot of things happened, but I couldn't remember what.

Spirit was a diversion. A chance to get away from the academic side of school and let it all out. Assemblies, clash day, games, and Sonny took us away and led us into a new reality. Some of us preferred to remain there. Others of us preferred not to go at all. If it was that way with you, chances are you can't remember what happened last week either.

“True Grit.”

"Beauty and the Beast."

Donkeys, bicycles, and a singer of songs. I admire your diversity. I admire your child's heart.

The year was busy, meaningful. Each experience was unique. Some enlightening, others meaningless. Availability was the key word. A donkey basketball game for him and a folk singer for her. Student leaders tried to provide something for every personality. Think about it. It's all a matter of keeping the customer satisfied.

Student Joe Aguirre shows Coach Salio the correct way to ride a donkey.

There is something about Christmas that makes the sad seem happy and the happy seem happier. A complete stranger wished me a merry Christmas and I loved him. I know he was sincere. I wished him a merry year.

I like the way Christmas seems to bring people together. Everyone is happy for the same reason. Too bad Christmas comes just once a year. Thank you for that one special day.

Homecoming Court of 1970: Queen, Debbie Baker; Maid of Honor, Kimberly Wright; Princesses, Karen Buice, Kathy Grant, Melinda Tidball.

Homecoming Queen, Debbie Baker and her escort, Mike Westling.

Queen Debbie and her court enjoyed the festivities at Homecoming 1970. This year's theme was centered around the "Roaring 70's." Sounds of 69 were heard as the 1969 pep squad returned to cheer the 1970 Crestview League Champs on to victory.

The Homecoming dance was held in the traditional location, Yorba Junior High School. Cold Duck supplied the music for the dance.

The 1970 Panther team made the evening complete by scoring an impressive win.

Stumbling along, we discover that life is full of symbols. For some, Homecoming was symbolic of successful dreams. For others, Homecoming was symbolic of social achievement and prestige. What's right for some, isn't right for others.

We find ourselves floating down streams of forgotten tears. We remember self-affirmation as an ingredient of happiness, and we struggle to apply it.

It's so hard sometimes, just being yourself. No one is asking you to like or dislike the ritual of Homecoming. Simply accept it for what it might be worth to others; the final step in the completion of a successful dream, or then again, nothing at all.

Maid of Honor, Kim Wright and her escort, John Russ.

The I.C.C. (Inter-Club Council) was a new club on campus this year. It was made up of all the club presidents. The presidents met to discuss their individual club activities, as well as school activities in general.

Panther Power consists of girls from all three classes who are pep enthusiasts. They help to promote school spirit. The posters, which they so generously donated, were appreciated by those athletes who felt a lack of interest on the students' part.

Pep Club is dedicated primarily to the promotion of school spirit. Due to a lack of interest on the part of the students, Pep Club fought a losing battle in their struggle to instill a keen sense of pride and enthusiasm in the students.

Mr. Tobler and his Agriculture Class.

The Auto Club supplied a lot of grease and work for its members. The boys (no girls allowed) learned the basic fundamentals of car care, and after putting their knowledge to use on their cars, they raced the finished products.

The Literary Club brought together those students who are especially interested in sharing their creative talents with others, and studying the creative talents of many famous authors. It gave its members a chance to relate literature to life.

The Future Homemakers were basically dedicated to learning how to improve family and community living. They discovered that through an organized program one can improve his family conditions as well as his community conditions.

The Agriculture classes were dedicated to developing rural leadership capabilities among its members. The classes also served to develop co-operative habits and habits of thrift. The members of the classes raised their own animals.

Reflected As a Team

Junior, Alan Harris kicked 18 out of 19 conversions and one game-winning field goal.

Tom Nation punishes an El Modena opponent as he blasts for 13 yards.

In the first battle of the 1970-71 season the Panthers found themselves 10 point underdogs. But, with tenacious defense led by Paul Sanford and yard-eating offense piloted by Mike Churchward, Orange destroyed Troy, 26-0.

Junior, Don Shannon guided the Panther Machine against highly rated La Habra in his starting quarterback debut. Randy Branch gained 109 of the Panthers total 244 yards on the ground. The game ended in a 14-14 tie, the only flaw in an otherwise perfect regular season record.

With storm-filled skies hanging over the league opener, the Panther spirit remained high. Tight-end Darrol Johnson caught a pass on the M.V. 9 and rolled off four tackles and bulled into the end zone. Brent Fraser, playing heads up, dropped the M.V. Q.B. for a safety and 2 points, for a final score of Orange 16, Mission 7.

Orange ruptured Katella's Homecoming dreams by literally walking over the Knights. The Knight's defense stood back in bewilderment at Orange's fantastic aerial attack from Mike Churchward to Dan Slattery. The stringent Panther defense, better known as "The Blockade Brigade," with cornerstone Paul Sanford, dented the Knight's with their second shutout, 41—zip!

The excitement of Homecoming night was enhanced by one of the more closely contested games for our Panthers. Villa Park, though, could not stand up to the Orange defense as Doug McFerran and Kirk Baker made key interceptions. Randy Branch led the offensive attack with an amazing 174 yds. as the Panthers rolled over V.P., 17-15.

Before 10,000 fans, the Panthers took on the undefeated Vanguard. This game was to decide who would end up wearing the Crestview League crown. By the end of the game, the fans sitting on the crowded west bleachers went wild with anticipation of C.I.F. Our line, consisting of Tolli, Reynolds, Harris, Fox, Swanson, and Johnson, spun Q.B. Churchward loose for 149 yds., 3 touchdowns, a 37-14 win, and the City Championship.

Revenge is sweet and how sweet it was as we demolished Foothill. Nation with 3 touchdowns and Slattery with 2, were veterans of last year's clash. Don't doubt the satisfaction that accompanied this game. Again Panther defense shined as we booted them 56-7.

Tustin not only felt the 50 m.p.h. winds, but also the hard-hitting Panther machine as it blew them off the field, 35-0.

The C.I.F. opener against Estancia summed up our strategy throughout the year, "Surprise and Capitalize," as they scored on the first series following an on-side kick. The final score was 19-14, but sometimes the score does not decide the real winner.

Another Successful Year

Brad McPherson sinks a key in the Villa Park game.

Three minutes and nine seconds to Victory!

And Seasons Later, Their Spirits

In the season's opener, the well balanced scoring by the Panthers turned the trick. It appeared from the start that we were on our way to something big as Orange pressed down Costa Mesa, 80-67.

Again, sighs pointed to success as we bounced back from a half-time deficit and beat Rancho Alamitos for the first time in five years, 80-76.

Troy had a freshman, Orange had mistakes. With 13 turnovers in the first half along with lack of rebounds, Orange suffered its first loss of the 71 season to Troy, 70-59.

In the Garden Grove tournament, the bright spots outweighed the dim. Losing the first game to Fountain Valley, we went on to take the consolation round championship along with posting two outstanding Panthers on the all Tournament team, Abel Bernal and Brad McPherson.

In our own Orange Tourney, we zapped Loara 72-43, beat the only remaining undefeated team, Lowell, 77-71, and found disappointment in the finals by tripping to La Habra, 79-71. Abel Bernal, Rick Jackson, and Brad McPherson gave the Panthers more All-Tourney players than any others.

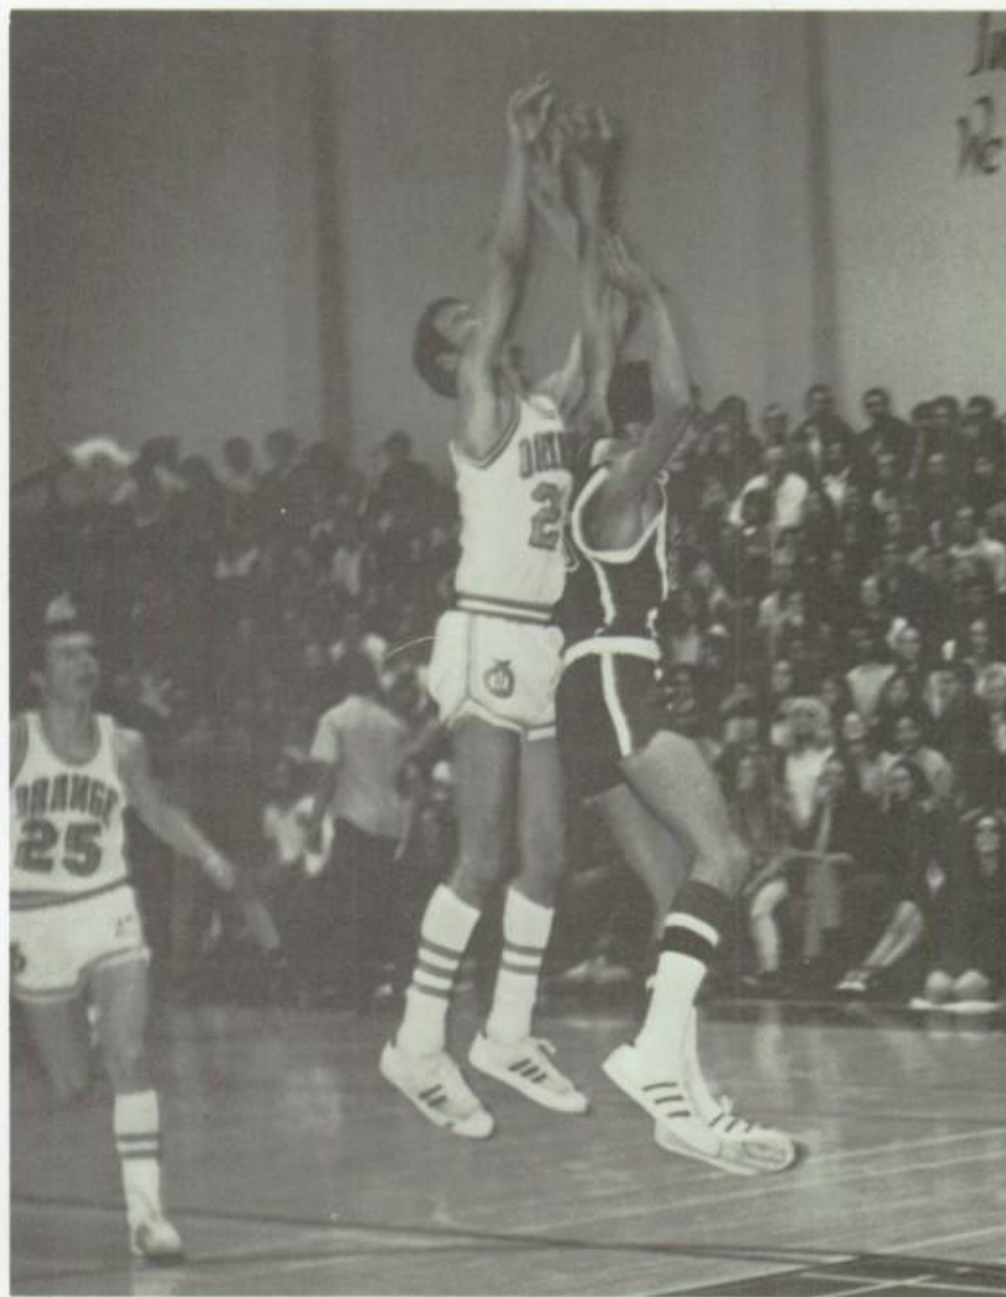

The League opener did not make us look like the championship team we hoped to be, but it was only a preparation of the things that were in store for this, the rocky Crestview League. Mission upset our mighty Panthers by the difference of a free throw, 62-61.

Moving into Hod Chambers. San Clemente thought they had things well in hand. But, with Abel scoring 23 pts. in the first three quarters they knew something was in the air. Trailing by nine pts. with 6 minutes left and two starters out, the Panthers pulled it out led by Jackson, Glasgow, and Muldoon, 80-79. Post-game spirit ran high.

Katella, with its homecourt advantage came out the victor in our third league contest. Mistakes, lack of rebounding, and pressure of the Knight's press folded us, 80-64.

But, the mistakes of the last game were only learning blocks to aid to our sweet revenge over Villa Park. The gym rocked as the battle rolled to a 63-63 deadlock at the end of regulation. Apparently they just couldn't stand the pressure as they watched Abel score from twenty-five feet to ice the overtime victory, 65-63.

Elmo, who had beaten Katella in their last game, had upset fever in their blood. But, the Panthers had City Champs in their minds as we ran away from them. Elmo found it hard to take as shown by 5 fouled out starters, in our victory, 67-63.

Ball Control by Rick Jackson.

Sophomore Brad was the man of the hour as he sank a 15 footer with less than 30 sec. remaining. The game was deadlocked the entire way, but Jackson's 14 and McPherson's 20 led Orange to the demolition of Foothill, 59-58.

Tustin then moved in and slipped by us by a disappointingly narrow margin with a nine point halftime lead, and leading most of the way, turnovers in the final quarter cost us the game, 59-54.

Mission was a "must" victory as all games were in the second round. After dropping to 3rd place in the first round, it appeared that it was nearly impossible to reach CIF. a 61-48 trouncing of Mission changed a few minds.

But, after losing a crucial game to San Clemente, hope was fading. We fell to a quick 19-9 deficit and never fully recovered, although battling back to within 3. The final score, S.C. 68-OHS 59.

McPherson 25, Bernal 21, Jackson 20, Salgado leading fastbreaks, and Glasgow with his usual all out hustle led Orange to the ultimate success of the second round. Katella didn't know what hit them as we stormed them off the floor. Blitzing fast breaks and tenacious press squelched them, 79-74.

The Orange Machine was rolling, in fact, it rolled over V.P. in front of their home fans. It must have been humiliating to them to watch Brad McPherson flip in 36 and Jackson 18 right through the Spartan defense. Orange 77-V.P. 69.

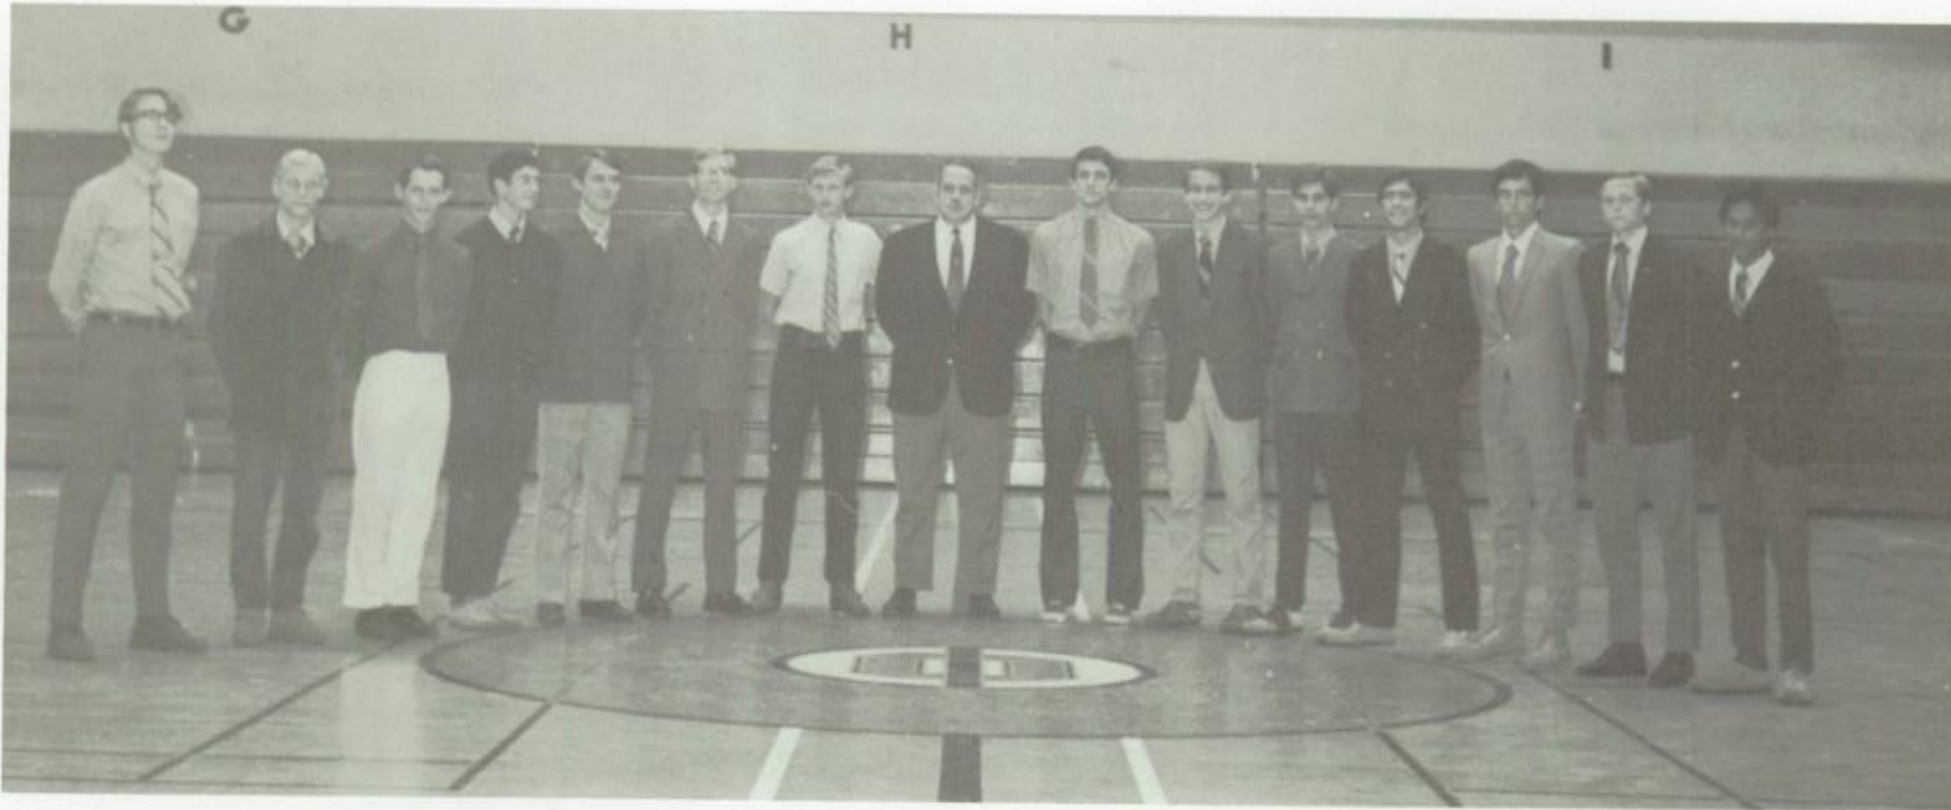

With a fourteen point halftime lead the Panthers had Elmo under control. But the third quarter left us cold as Elmo tied us up. Jackson's free throws along with Abel's fantastic 21 point game made the difference as we mowed Elmo 65-57.

The next time we faced Foothill, the story was different. Leading by 12 at half time, the Panthers were at least 10 pts. ahead throughout the game. Again McPherson had the hot hand with 33 and Jackson with 25 contributed to 58 of our 80 pts. Foothill had 70.

Playing the only team we had yet to beat in the League, the Panthers found disappointment in the Tustin game. Playing against some of the more vocal officials in the League the Panthers dropped the League final 62-51, with Bernal leading our scoring attack with 17.

Crestview is known around California as one of the toughest if not the toughest league. Because of this, our Panthers moved into CIF with their third place berth. In the CIF opener, though, we met our match in the team of Lausen. Our cold third quarter was the difference that they beat us by as we rallied back from a fifteen point deficit with just minutes left to within three, 75-72.

Oscar Bernal leads the fast break.

The "Bear" looks on in rage.

The main purpose in the J.V. basketball program is the maturization process it provides for the Juniors and Sophomores as they prepare to play Varsity ball next year. Under Coach Meade, they soon learn when they have failed to learn a skill. Usually they develop it fast.

This year's team was quite a success story. When looking back in past years, Orange has never been blessed with great talent on the J.V. level. This year, the story was changed as they nearly had an even season.

Wrestling is a sport of speed, agility, endurance, and skill. It is not only an individual sport, but one where every individual effort adds to the making of a team. There are many long, grueling hours behind all of the wrestlers on our Panther squad. Two of the biggest problems described by some of the guys themselves are staying in your weight category and being mentally prepared, even after losing the last match.

This year's Wrestling team showed signs of improvement, but like last year, there was a great deal of inexperience. The Varsity team consisted on only 3 wrestlers of three years experience, Bill Frohoff, Dennis Jones, and Tony Strong. But, with all of this inexperience, we placed more people in League than last year. Seniors Bill Frohoff and Dennis Jones placed second and earned the right to go into CIF. Others who placed in League were seniors, Rick Martin, Ron Acosta, and junior, Roger Holder.

Dennis Jones executes a "switch".

All-League center fielder Jim Smolenski.

The J.V. baseball team this year was no doubt one of the best we've ever had. Under Coach Hess they won nearly all of their games, including a 6-5 victory over our own Varsity team. In a squarely played game, in seven innings, they battled to one of the big surprises of the year over the expected Crestview League champs. Captains Rich Zazuetta and Paul Beaudreau say that this year's team was mostly juniors with a few good sophomores tossed in. All in all the J.V.'s give us great expectations for next year's Varsity team.

Coach Hess chews out co-captain Rich Zazuetta.

To the average spectator, Sophomore baseball is not the game to go watch. But, to these players, it is the preparation for bigger and better things to come in future years. These guys are not out for the glory that comes with having hundreds of spectators, but for the satisfaction of personal improvement so that in the coming years, they will be the best they can be, not only as an individual, but as a team player.

Lee Hackett has a look of panic!

Lane Balderree is within sixty feet of a shutout.

Track Concentrated

Varsity Track Team: Row 1: L.Wagner, J.Vasquez, J. Russ, D.Slattey, M.Page, D.Krysinski, M.Charchward, R.Branch, K.Baker. Row 2: E.Vaughn, B.Watson, J. On Individual Skill, John Russ shows good form in the long jump.

Junior Rick Swanson blasts out of the shot put ring for his best throw.

Starting three months before the season starts, the track team goes through the agony of first 880's in a year, weight-lifting, and repeat quarter-miles that burn the lungs to no end. At the end of six weeks the pain is at its peak and one asks himself if it's really worth it to go the remaining six weeks until the season begins. But, there is a strange hunger in these men to do the impossible, maybe not impossible for others, but to improve upon one's own personal best is the name of the game. There is also something called competition that adds character to these athletes. The flow of adrenalin is the most powerful push that a runner can receive. "It hurts, it hurts. But look! Who is that in front of me? I've seen those blue shorts before on the sidelines. I remember, he's from V.P. I'm going to beat him, because no squirrel from V.P. is going to beat me!" The adrenalin is flowing. To the spectator in the stands, it looks like he has been saving this burst, but inside, it hurts, oh, how it hurts. The crowd jumps to its feet as he passes the only opponent between him and the tape. He crosses victorious, and drops in a heap as all possible effort has been expended plus some he never had. Congratulations, John, now get ready for the mile relay.

John Sutphin inches over the cross bar.

The Cross Country course is two miles long. For those of you who can't comprehend that distance, it's eight big ones around the track. But, on most courses, just for a little spice, they add half mile long hills, sand, and one or two courses even have the courses flooded. There is not a pile of glory in this sport, only the personal satisfaction that you know when you have done well, because it hurts.

The game of Tennis at Orange was new to many people, including those on the Tennis team. Surely they had played before, but for the first time, under the expert guidance of Coach Dave Zirkle, these guys learned the real game of tennis. The season may not have indicated it, but wait for next year's developing juniors.

As the "Hickok Hackers" once again hit the hallowed courses of Orange County in the hope of regaining the Crestview League title, it looks as though this will be the season of rebuilding. With mostly all underclassmen this year, it was hard to develop the experience maintained by past years. But, the potential for a winning club gives a satisfaction that lies in patience for the following year.

As for this year, the season was respectable in itself. Sweeping Tustin, Katella, and splitting with Villa Park, El Modena, and Mission Viejo is quite an accomplishment in the rough League we meet. Coach Hickok, an expert on the game, looks back on this year as the first rung in the ladder to next year's success.

G.A.A. involves individual sports, as well as group sports. The tennis team was divided into two groups, singles and doubles. These two teams played against teams from surrounding schools.

Playing individually, rather than as a group, is very effective in producing self-determination and self-pride. The tennis team was a group, however. In spite of the fact that the girls played separately, they were a group. They were a group because they were all playing for the same end. A win.

We sometimes overlook the importance of a club such as G.A.A. We fail to recognize that the experience we gain in having a good attitude and good health is very important to us and will be very important to us in the future.

FACULTY & ACADEMICS

Editor: Kristen Kude

Years of a Season of Serving

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS: Mr. Harold Kibby.

Just as any other administrative body faces problems, so did Mr. Kibby and the members of the School Board, the main issue being the dress code.

Early in the year, a group of concerned parents and students attended a board meeting, during which the question of the dress code was to be discussed. Realizing the importance of this matter to the students, and their parents as well, the School Board appointed several committees to investigate the possibility of eliminating a strict dress code and adopting one of a more liberal nature.

Questionnaires were sent out to all the parents in the district. Sadly, but true, few were returned and of those returned fewer still indicated much interest. The School Board is to be commended for their efforts, as well as those parents who took an active interest in the future of their children.

However unimportant the issue of the dress code might seem to some adults, and some students, those students directly involved felt a unique sense of pride and accomplishment in knowing that their needs and desires had been recognized. A new dress code was established.

The School Board, working directly in accordance with the needs and desires of the students, has and will prove to be an effective and productive body of our school system.

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS: Row 1: Eleanore Pleines, Bert Skiles, and Ruth Evans. Row 2: Robert Elliott, David Miller, Gilbert Darwin, and Keith Lynn.

and More Years to Come

PRINCIPAL: Mr. Verrill Townsend.

Mr. Townsend and Mrs. Paulsen successfully completed another year of loyal service to the institution and the students. Mr. Townsend, to whom this annual has been dedicated, carried on his duties in a fashion which has made him an outstanding figure in the administration of O.H.S. Mrs. Paulsen's dedication was reflected in her never-ending supply of understanding.

Many students have never had the opportunity of talking to Mr. Townsend and Mrs. Paulsen. Some students were not even aware of their existence. The fact remains that the school is an institution, and we as the students at O.H.S. could not have survived without their direction.

Living, for you Mr. Townsend and you Mrs. Paulsen, has been serving. Thank you for serving us. Living for you has been understanding. Thank you for understanding us. Living for you has been living for us. Thank you for making us your lives.

Mr. Kibby and Mr. Stotts converse about our new Guidance Information Center.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL: Mrs. Grace Paulsen.

The Heart of the Institution—

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL: Mr. James Fleming.

This year, O.H.S. received Mr. Fleming. As Assistant Principal, Mr. Fleming assumed an important role in the administration of the school. Working directly with the students, as he did, he became a well known figure on campus. His smiling face at lunch and all throughout the day, was an inspiration to the student body as well as the other administrators.

In spite of the immediate difficulties he had to survive at the beginning of the year, Mr. Fleming is still with us and doing a mighty fine job. He is there when you need him. I came to him several times with problems and he was never too busy to help me solve them. A special thanks goes to you Mr. Flemming for being a direct line to the administration and more important, for being a friend.

The attendance and personnel offices were there for the use of students and administrators. The office personnel carried on their sometimes overlooked but essential duties, as efficiently as ever. Aside from their written duties, these ladies went out of their way to help the students in any way possible. They delivered flowers and offered words of consolation in times of despair.

Assistant Principal's Secretary: Mrs. Armour.

Mr. Fleming addressed the Student Body from the stage of the Outdoor Theater.

Attendance Office Personnel: Mrs. Humphrey and Mrs. Rice.

Mr. Andresen served us as Director of Activities. He was directly involved with many of the clubs on campus. He attended their meetings and made helpful suggestions which aided in the productivity. He was also directly involved with the production of assemblies and many other activities on campus.

In addition to these responsibilities he aided the office personnel in keeping an accurate record of each student's attendance. Together, Mr. Andresen and the attendance office personnel, helped us make the most of our days at O.H.S. Thank you for your concern.

Mr. Andresen is always helpful.

Bachelor of Science.

This year, the counselors at OHS introduced what they call the Guidance Information Center. The purpose of the center is to provide the students with vocational information for education and work. It is equipped with many modern aids, one of them being a reader-printer which allows students to insert a "VIEW" card that states Vital Information for Education and Work. The information is projected on a screen and can be reprinted at the pull of a lever. This machine and the other aids available are helping students in planning their education with respect to their vocational objectives. We hope to continue with the center next year.

A machine, however, is a machine, and cannot replace the human touch. Our counselors supplied us with the encouragement and security a machine cannot give. They seemed to be saying, "Please hang your life on my hat rack." The students who did just that appreciate the sincerity with which our counselors approach us when given the chance. Their small number limited their availability, but when they were available they proved to be genuinely interested in the well being of each student.

"A friend is someone with whom you can be sincere."—Emerson. Thank you for letting us be sincere.

Mrs. Wanda Corcoran:
Library Assistant

Mrs. Fields and her assistants were always ready to help students look up information, whether it was for a term paper, theme, essay, or just the batting average of one of the Angel's baseball players.

Issuing text books and audio-visual equipment was another part of the work they performed.

The library was also used for class study and meetings of various kinds throughout the school year.

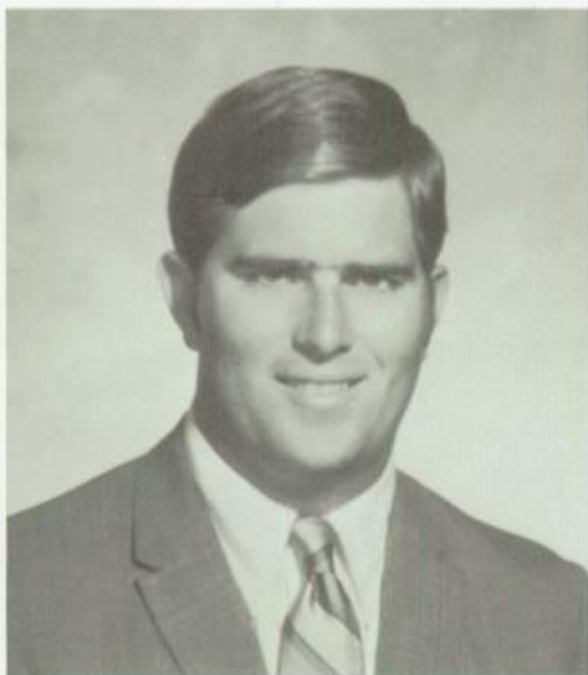

The students got to Stevens.

New techniques and new ideas were employed by the teachers at O.H.S. this year. Mr. Peterson used tape recorders in his advanced composition classes to evaluate the student's compositions. The history department continued on with the idea of the simulation games. And many other methods which might not have been seen, were felt by the students.

The use of such techniques and methods is very effective in increasing the learning capacity of the student. The freshness of these ideas stimulates the students to learn. But more important still, it stimulates the students desire to learn. In a time where the values of schooling is being questioned by the youth, a desire to learn is very important in convincing the student that schooling is helpful in preparing him for his future. Our teachers, therefore are succeeding in teaching us and helping us prepare for our days ahead.

"I am not a teacher, but an awakener."
-Frost-

A desired method of teaching would be that in which the student's own knowledge would be enlarged upon by the teacher. The teacher, therefore, would serve as an awakener rather than a teacher. This sort of an arrangement, however, is ideally desired, and until such a method of education can be employed in our schools, we can only hope for newer techniques and newer ideas in learning.

For their efforts to enlighten, the teachers at O.H.S. deserve a special sort of recognition. Our thanks go out to those teachers whose intentions were to make us an intelligent and sensitive body of beings. We desire knowledge and through knowledge we acquire sensitivity. Thank you for making us feel.

The administration syndrome at Orange would not be complete without the bus drivers, cafeteria workers, the parking lot attendant, and the janitors. Responsible for our physical attendance, the bus drivers get us there, the cafeteria workers prevent us from starving, the parking lot attendant keeps the people without parking stickers from taking up our parking places, and the janitors keep the joint from falling down on us. The Underclassmen ride into their future.

A breaking down of summer spirit. Sunshine faded through dimly lit halls of crowded thoughts. Gentle subjects, subjected to life itself or fall's uncertainty.

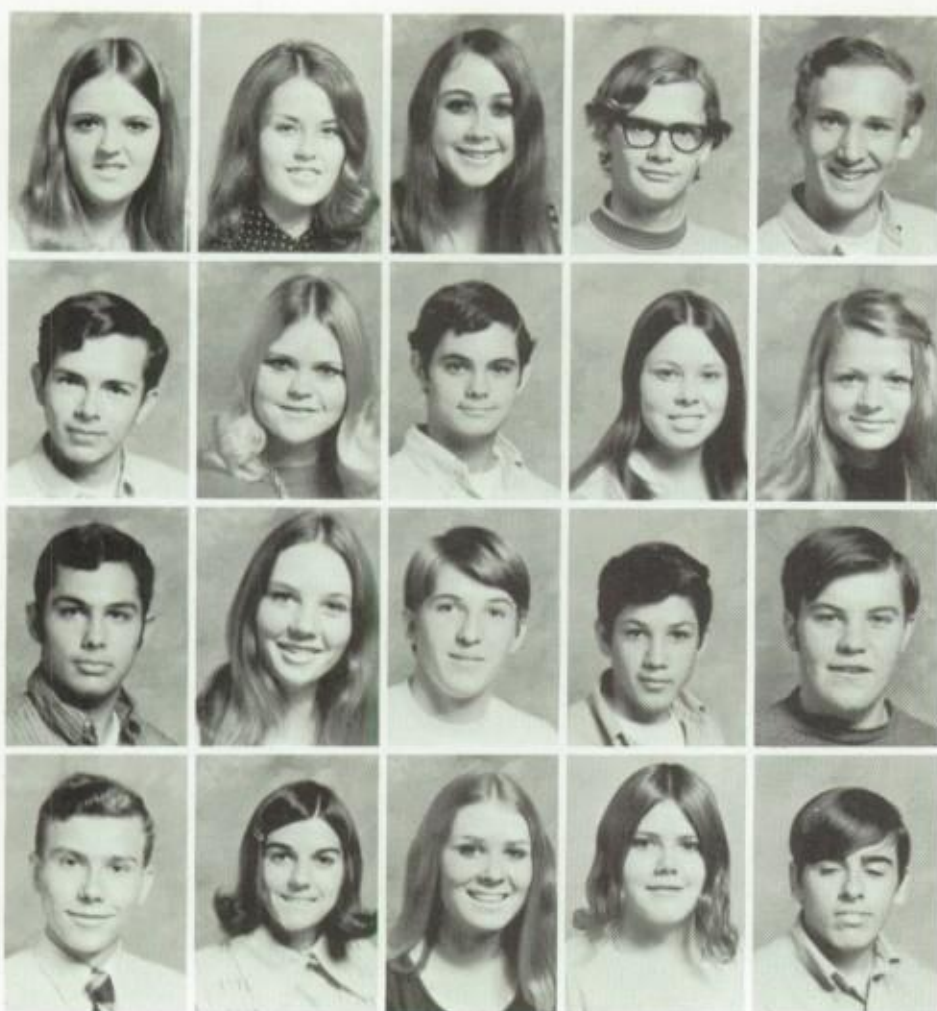

Juniors were touched by mediocrity. Choosing between filling the role or staying behind in secret places. Is the choice theirs?

Life returns to life, as you live to learn and learn to live. And when the means becomes an end so the end becomes a means.

"Once within a time we tumbled down the autumn days and falling, changed a bit." And when the understanding of change was there, they were real for the very first time.

I know you're ready. Go out and set the world on fire!

Lunch is the high point for underclassmen.

Time is not important, "because we race the wind." Hiding behind stores of games and wonder. Playing hard, but not for keeps. They rose to heights where kites subside to freedom. Tripping down sounds of milk and honey.

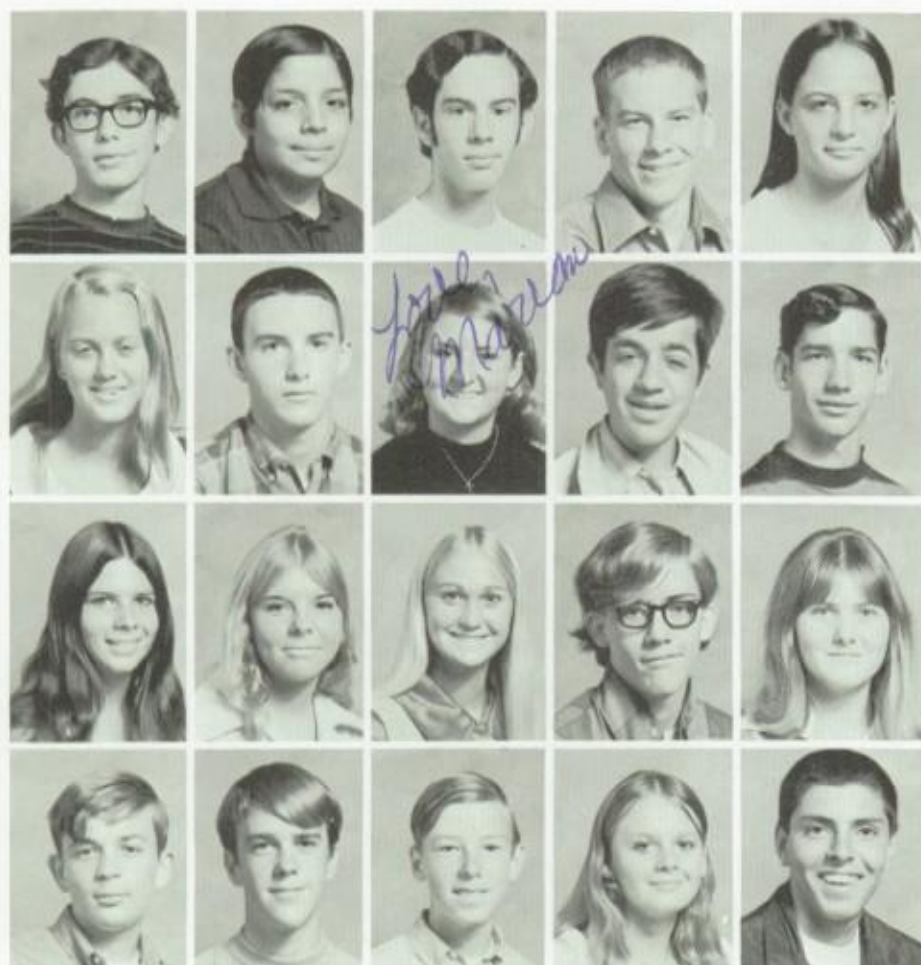

A symbol of freedom. A sophomore is now! Singing the death of apprehension, and finding the birth of dreams fulfilled.

Life returns to life, as you live to laugh and laugh to live. And the discovery of the means becomes an end. If you can laugh, you can learn.

"We lived with hearts that ran and hands that dreamed and clocks that had no hour hand."

Dream on, dear sophomore, for it's thirteen o'clock and all is well.

FOR A SECURE FUTURE...

“Come in and Get Your Panther Bank”

Knowledgeable students put their savings to work. They put it in a sound Savings and Loan account to let their money draw excellent interest rates.

This interest is compounded to insure a sizeable “nest egg” for future use.

Also, these students are in an excellent position to secure a home loan, a business loan, or loans on important real estate developments.

Wouldn't ya say we had some good times in P.E. 1st semester? I think so!

Some of our dance routines were TERRIE
I really don't remember any other sports we had together. I hope ya don't think I ignored you 6th per. 2nd semester but after P.E. I'm just not myself.
I'm sorry !?

Mr. Garrison...for all the times he had to pull uniforms and equipment out of season.

Don M...for helping Linda with the marquee.

Albert and James...for all the pictures and time they supplied.

Deanne Hart...for the extra Girls' League pictures he took on short notice.

Pam Drake...for designing our fantastic cover.

Mr. Heidecke...for letting Linda out of class so often first period.

Richard Brown...for taking extra pictures of sports and especially of "Hi Mom".

Mr. Townsend...for being so cooperative when club pictures were taken.

Mr. John Thomas...for providing that little extra push and inspiration. He was the American Yearbook representative.

Tom and Kevin...for entering annual class at semester and working with the impossible.

The Merchants of Orange...for being kind enough to buy our advertisements for support.

Mr. Craig...for accepting late proof sheets and deadlines.

Lots of Love

EPILOGUE

We were like so many pieces in a menagerie. Victims of dust and time. We fed on the colors that years of seasons brought. Then we were the masters of childhood. Today we are the children of Spring. Step down and shake the dust off.

The menagerie of life, a life of springtime. We said our goodbyes and implied the hello. And if the glass sky shatters, it will rain glass rain. And we shall find ourselves running and hiding from glass bears whose indifference invades the antiquity of my words. Welcome a friend's smiles—and tears.

I broke my favorite friend the other day—a rose colored glass with time inside. Find your glass hopes in stores of glass dreams. For there is no room for wooden soldiers in a world of brass beds. So put on your best dress and we shall go out to find the world.

I see you in me now—forever in thoughts of crimson days and violet nights. I'm looking through you, and I see that you break quite easily. Touch me then, but handle with care.

And if you recall the sweetness of morning, remember that sweeter is my sadness. For you were laughter—even without me. And you were sunshine—with me. Everybody, I love you.

Three times twenty forevers—we shall wait for spring to return to summer's color. And we shall live as children in hearts of glass that reflect the ever present spring. For spring is nothing without the wisdom of a child's heart.

I'll see you then—around goodnight. Om Tao.

Cathy,
 Have fun at home

 Colleen

each other, long with sharing our happiness.
I'm so

citing to know that we'll be together in heaven!

can remember

for

~~about~~ all the good memories & maybe the bad, (if there are any) & then we can tell each other about them. It'll be so much fun! Not only in goofing around but also in learning more about God & studying His Word. It's too bad that we have to ever come back, but that the way it goes. I'm sorry it has to end this way
